Among Danny's many interests, he counted Alabama football, NASCAR, the New

But his greatest love of all was his friends, family and especially his many grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Whether it was childhood friends, acquaintances he made through work, neighbors he met while walking his beloved dog and companion, Molly, or chance meetings with strangers, Danny's friendliness, sense of humor and genuine interest in others made him their friend for life.

His love and affection will leave each grandchild with their own unique memory of special times with their "Pawpaw". Usually involving an innocent practical joke, or special tradition, like breakfast at Waffle House, supporting their involvement in sports, academics or wherever their interest took them. They will cherish those memories for the rest of their lives. He will be greatly missed by all who had the pleasure of calling him Pawpaw, Danny, Pat or friend.
