“ It's taken me almost a year to write something here. David was my husband for almost 53 years. We had such fun together and I miss that most of all. David had a brilliant mind and throughout his life he excelled in math and science. He kept up with news about so many subjects that interested him. Many times now I want to ask him to explain something that I don't understand and he's not there. He could explain things much better than google! He dearly loved his daughters and regretted the time he lost with them because work was occupying his life. Although I wish he was still here so I could tell him how much I love him, I am glad he is no longer in terrible pain. When my time on earth is up, I hope I will find Dave holding out his hand to guide me to his afterlife.

“ I worked with David at Brown & Root in Mobile. He was the most honest hard working no nonsense Engineer I ever knew. One of my fondest memories of David was being invited to a staff meeting as I was having thoughts of leaving the company and listening to David ask how many projected projects we forecast as opposed to how many unforeseen projects we actually landed. When management objected David blasted back that we should quit jerking employees around and decide what size office we wanted in Mobile. He really cared about peoples well being. He will be missed.
