

Mr. Freddie Hugh Davis Jr

December 23, 1958 - March 12, 2024

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

LB

“ Lisa Birnbaum lit a candle in memory of Mr. Freddie Hugh Davis Jr

lisa birnbaum - March 19, 2024 at 08:53 PM

LB

“ Lisa Birnbaum sent a virtual gift in memory of Mr. Freddie Hugh Davis Jr

lisa birnbaum - March 19, 2024 at 08:53 PM

LB

“ Hugh is my cousin, that I have not seen in a few years, but have many memories. In my youth he took my brother and I to the local jail and courthouse to learn lessons on the law. Later on life he was in my wedding. Thanks for all the life lessons and being in my wedding. You are greatly missed.

lisa birnbaum - March 19, 2024 at 08:52 PM

KB

“Freddie Hugh Davis, Jr

Son, brother, Uncle, husband, father, step dad, and Granddad, friend, Hugh.

I was 13 years old when Hugh came into my life and today I am 40 as he walks out. I didn't realize the impact he had on my life till this past week. We've been trying to be together as a family regaling each other with tales.

The Hugh that I knew best was the storyteller and granddad. I have listened to his story since I've known him. Half of them I can tell as good as he could. Stories from his childhood, his summer spent on the Mississippi River, his time at Huntington College, his policeman days, his days off being a lawyer and in politics, and then I watched as he got to make more stories of life as a dad and Granddad.

Some of my favorite memories of Hugh are from going to Grandmama Franks House. He'd get out there with his cousins and they'd tell on each other. Stories that would have you laughing so hard you couldn't breathe. He'd take us out driving to sight see all the places he talked about.

I remember the look on Hugh's face the day he became granddad. You'd have thought I had intentionally had Gwyn just so he could be a Granddad. I believe he saw it as one of the greatest honors a man could have. He adored his granddad. When he found out I was pregnant he already had his title picked out. He was going to be Granddad. A little over a year later I gave him another opportunity to be Granddad. He still had the same reaction. That I had made Connor just for him. Those were his grandbabies and EVERYONE knew it. He never passed up an opportunity to tell someone about his 'well above average' grandbabies. He relished the opportunity to be in their lives. He spoiled them. I think he also liked a new captivated audience to share all his stories.

I guess in the middle of living I didn't take the time to really appreciate the impact he had on my life. But I was allowed the last week of Hugh's life to reflect and let him know. I will forever be grateful for that. I know he's at peace.

Karen Black - March 19, 2024 at 10:43 AM

LB

Hugh is my cousin, that I have not seen in a few years, but have many memories. In my youth he took my brother and I to the local jail and courthouse to learn lessons on the law. Later on life he was in my wedding. Thanks for all the life lessons and being in my wedding. You are greatly missed.

lisa birnbaum - March 19, 2024 at 03:46 PM